PALM SUNDAY—HOLY WEEK

As we enter the high Holy season of the liturgical year I wanted to share a few thoughts with you. Today we enter Jerusalem in what at first seems a triumphant entrance. Yet we know this earthly triumph will end, but an eternal triumph will occur. Christ will institute the Eucharist. He will show what being a servant leader is by washing the feet of His disciples. He will be arrested, put on trial and condemned to death even though He was innocent. Nailed to a tree and die on the Cross. This is the week Satan believes he has won, but his victory will be short lived. It will turn out to be his downfall and defeat, but our victory in Jesus Christ. Satan will be prowling around this week, so I encourage you to be on guard. Go out of your way to show greater kindness. Pray more. Avoid his lies and subterfuge. Keep your eyes focused on the Christ and be prepared. This is the week Lucifer loses!

RCIA Please keep the following individuals in your prayers as they prepare to receive the sacraments of initiation at the Easter Vigil. From St. George: Aimee Brendel and from Church of the Risen Savior—Sadie Gotsch, Will Petty and Hannah Schluss. As they continue their preparations throughout Lent, your prayers would be very much appreciated.
